Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by O'Connor et al. (US Patent No. 6,912,644).

As per claim 1, O'Connor discloses a computer implemented method for creating a translation lookaside buffer entry comprising: a) accessing a physical memory address associated with a tentative translation lookaside buffer entry; b) comparing said physical memory address with a predetermined memory range; and c) if said physical memory address is within said predetermined memory range, invoking an exception [If TLB does not have an entry for the input virtual address, the TLB miss handling may be used to generate an entry (column 2, lines 53-62); the steering registers are coupled to the output of the page table walk and thus utilize the physical address information generated by the page table walk to determine the appropriate steering data (column 3, lines 10-16); the physical address information and the steering data generated by the page table walk and the steering registers, respectively, are used to generate a new entry for the TLB (column 3, lines 20-26)].

As per claims 2, and 7-8, O'Connor discloses modifying said tentative translation lookaside buffer entry in response to said exception [steering data].

As per claim 3, O'Connor discloses storing a modified translation lookaside buffer entry into a translation lookaside buffer [storing the new entry into TLB].

As per claims 4-5, O'Connor discloses if said physical memory address is outside said predetermined memory range, storing said tentative translation lookaside buffer entry into a translation lookaside buffer without modification [it could be in any of the different ranges of physical address, therefore, if it is outside of one range, it would be in another range and still would be created and stored in the TLB].

As per claim 6, O'Connor discloses that said tentative translation lookaside buffer entry is accessed from a page table entry [page table walk].

As per claims 9-22, claims 9-22 encompass the same scope of the invention as those of claims 1-8. Therefore, claims 9-22 are rejected for the same reasons as stated above with respect to claims 1-8.
